

ALPH ABET COLL ECTION

Design Idea incorporated into this collection is the three-dimensional effect by putting the pipes into more layers and getting the design out of the intersections.

Intersections are always inspiring just like the crossroads in our life. Our life lines lead us to many crossroads and intersections with life of others.

Each intersections leads in some decision to become a part of our life line.

Intersection ideas lead us to the shape of letters. F is just a small reminder of the origin country of Zavar design – the land where the Cyrillic letters were born, in the same town where I was born.

Made of big pipes with perfect shapes this radiator will live you speechless with its presence.

X

Three-dimensional effect of curved pipes put in a distance of the collectors' pipe is unique experience. Seen from different angles gives eclectic view always different and new.

Big X is powerful in appearance and in heat output so its mostly suitable for big rooms or public spaces.

The small x is simplified version of his big brother adjusted for smaller spaces.

Smoothness of the curved pipes put in two different levels makes quiet impact on the room.
